Oak Tree's Blossoming Artists

Oak Tree Cairns residents are proving to be a talented bunch as seen by the uptake of art classes recently initiated as a communal social activity in the village.

Resident and group leader, Carmel Mitchell, decided to share her artistic knowledge with her fellow residents inviting participation in a weekly class specialising in acrylics and oil paintings.

Held every Tuesday from 2-5pm, the class is open to friends and relatives associated with the village and has grown to be a big affair from just a couple of people up to 17 (and growing) blossoming artists.

Painting animal life, plant life and even some beautiful landscape scenes, the group's technique is improving.

It doesn't matter how good you are, says Carmel, just as long as you enjoy what you do.

"We all help each other, share ideas and just enjoy the company."

So chuffed with their work, the class is working towards hosting their first art exhibition this year at the village to showcase their talents.

If successful the event will become an inaugural Oak Tree Art Show displaying the local talents in the area.
